Daylilies

(HEMEROCALLIS)

Ideal Perennials for Busy People

For double bloom in your garden without extra space or labor—plant Daylilies. They thrive in ordinary soil—full sun or partial shade. What's more, the bugs don't bother them. Free-flowering in habit, spectacular in performance, they are decorative indoors and out. Modern hybridizing has given us varieties which bloom from May to September.

CINNABAR (illustrated opposite). From early July and well into the month of August this choice hybrid blooms in great profusion on 2½-ft. stems. The color illustration speaks for itself. $1 each; 5 at 80 cts.

NATURE—The Tree Peony is one of the most hardy plants available for your garden, developing into a fine bush 3 to 4 ft. wide. It grows in the same soil and receives the same treatment given to the more common herbaceous peony. The plant is called "Tree" Peony because its woody stems do not die to the ground in winter.

BLOOMS—The Tree Peony blooms earlier than the ordinary peony with petals of crepe texture and unusual brilliance of tone, beauty unknown in the herbaceous peony. Some varieties bear double flowers like the ordinary peony. Others have single or semi-double blooms. These are preferred by many gardeners as more artistic than the double-flowered varieties.

BEAUTY—The color-range is wide—much greater than in herbaceous peonies. Colors vary from white through glowing salmon-pink, brilliant scarlet to deep velvety red. You can select any color with the assurance that all Tree Peonies are beautiful.

WHERE TO PLANT—Plant Tree Peonies as specimens in your flower-beds, as a background for rock-gardens, along the foundation of a building, or in the foreground of a shrubby border.

TREE PEONIES

AT POPULAR PRICES IN A FULL RANGE OF COLOR

In 1919 the Farr Nursery Company bought the most noted collection of Tree Peonies in France, consisting of 5000 plants in 238 varieties. This collection was increased by 1922 to include more than 350 varieties—the largest private collection in the world.

Propagation of Tree Peonies is a slow process. Now, after 20 years of propagation, enough plants are available to offer you a wider range of color than has ever been offered before at low, popular prices for heavy, field-grown stock. Now, you can plant in your garden for a low price the flower that once only emperors could own.

To lower prices still further, the Tree Peonies are offered by color and form, avoiding burdensome names. You no longer need to be confused by a long list of names, hard to spell and still harder to pronounce. Simply select the color (from white to dark red) you prefer in the form you admire (single, semi-double, or double.)

Select colors with the knowledge that all colors are beautiful—with the feeling that all forms are desirable. Plants are guaranteed to bloom true to color and form.

Flesh-Pink	Clear Pink	Rose-Pink	Bright Cerise	Royal Purple
Above colors can be supplied in single, semi-double, or double forms. Your selection of form and color, $3.50 each.
Rich Salmon	Pure Red	Velvety Red	Snowy White	Fiery Scarlet
Above colors can be supplied in single, semi-double, or double forms. Your selection of form and color, $4.50 each.

ROYAL COLLECTION. 1 plant of each of the 5 Tree Peonies illustrated (value $20.50) for only $17.45.

COLLECTION A. 2 plants, your selection from each of the above 2 groups—4 plants (value $16.00) for only $13.65.

COLLECTION B. 3 plants, your selection, from the $4.50 group (value $13.50) for $11.45.

COLLECTION C. 3 plants, your selection, from the $3.50 group (value $10.50) for $8.95.

All Tree Peonies offered above are heavy, 5- to 6-year-old, FIELD-GROWN PLANTS. They are NOT young potted plants. All have bloomed for several years in the nursery and are ready to bloom in your garden next year.

Daylilies in several varieties provide an informal background from May until September for the figure of St. Francis, Patron Saint of the Birds.

OLD-TIME FAVORITES FOR THE WARTIME GARDEN

Older varieties of Daylilies, as good today as they were in your grandmother's garden. Here is just the flower you need for these days of "all-out" war effort—Daylilies need no coddling or special attention. We can recommend the following list of varieties as among the best of the older types for garden use today.

FLAVA. 3 ft. May, June. The old fragrant "Lemon Lily." Clear lemon-yellow. 45 cts. each; 5 @ 35 cts.

FULVA MACULATA. 4 ft. July, late Aug. Very large bold flowers, similar in color to the common "Roadside lily" but much larger and later. 75 cts. each; 5 @ 60 cts.

GOLD DUST. 2 ft. May, June. Deep yellow flowers, bronze on reverse side. 45 cts. each; 5 @ 35 cts.

HYPERION. 4 ft. July, Aug. Long canary-yellow trumpet; large flowers. $1.00 each; 5 @ 75 cts.

KWANSO FLORE-PLENO. 4 ft. July, late Aug. Large, double coppery orange flowers, on heavy stems. 35 cts. each; 5 @ 25 cts.

OPHIR. (Farr.) July, Aug. Large waxy golden yellow blooms, 5 in. across, 6 in. long, on stiff stems. One stem usually carries 25 or more flower-buds. Award of Merit by Royal Hort. Society, England. $1.00 each; 5 @ 80 cts.

ROYAL. 3½ ft. July. Deep golden yellow. 75 cts. each; 5 @ 60 cts.

SIR MICHAEL FOSTER. 4 ft. July. Clear apricot-yellow. 75 cts. each; 5 @ 60 cts.

SIRIUS. 3 ft. July. Rich orange with a faint eye-zone. Petals charmingly crinkled and margin waxy. $1.00 each; 5 @ 80 cts.

SOVEREIGN. 2 ft. May, June. Clear yellow blooms for the spring garden. Fine when combined with Tangerine. 50 cts. each; 5 @ 40 cts.

TANGERINE. 20 in. May, June. True tangerine-colored flowers in late spring. Award of Merit R. H. S., England. 75 cts. each; 5 @ 60 cts.

D. D. WYMAN. 3 ft. July, Aug. Extra large; golden yellow, with tawny splash on petals. 75 cts. each; 5 @ 60 cts.

THIRTY GARDEN-TESTED VARIETIES OF THE FAMOUS STOUT HYBRIDS

The following list offers a wide range of height and color, with a blooming season from June to September. Approximate dates of bloom at Weiser Park, Pa., are listed with each variety. Most of these new Hybrids have a delightful fragrance and remain open evenings. Bloom season—about a month.

ALADDIN. 3½ ft. June. Strongly banded flowers, somewhat clustered; garnet-brown mid-zone on petals; outer half golden yellow. $3.00 each.

AUGUST PIONEER. 3 ft. Aug., Sept. Medium-sized orange flower for the fall season. $1.50 each; 5 @ $1.25.

AUTUMN PRINCE. 3½ ft. Aug. Medium small, clear light yellow blooms on many strong branches. One of the best fall bloomers. $3.00 each.

BAGDAD. 3½ ft. July. A gay combination of rich colors—orange throat, with petals coppery red over orange. $1.00 each; 5 @ 80 cts.

BARONET. 2 ft. June. Semi-dwarf plants. Full recurring petals; contrasting two-toned sprightly red and orange. $3.00 each.

BIJOU. 2½ ft. July, Aug. Semi-dwarf plants; profuse bloomers. Ground color orange, overcast rich fulvous-red, darker mid-zone. $1.50 each; 5 @ $1.25.

BOUTONNIERE. 3 ft. Aug., Sept. Beautiful miniature flower, distinct addition for the fall garden. Throat light orange-yellow, petals darker yellow. $1.75 each; 5 @ $1.50.

BUCKEYE. 2½ ft. June. Resembles the popular Mikado but blooms three weeks earlier. Outstanding eyed type. Prolific bloomer. $2.50 each; 5 @ $2.00.

CABALLERO. 4 ft. July, Aug. A fine bicolor—petals brilliant red, throat and sepals golden yellow. A fine combination when used with clear yellow types. $3.00 each.

CHENG TU. 3½ ft. July, Aug. Sprightly, brilliant coppery orange-red with deeper velvety carmine. $1.50 each; 5 @ $1.25.

CINNABAR. 2½ ft. July, Aug. Orange base sprinkled with cinnamon and strongly gold-glistening medium-large flower. Prolific bloomer. $1.00 each; 5 @ 80 cts.

CIRCE. 4 ft. July, Aug. Full, medium-sized, recurved flowers of clear yellow. Fine for height in background. $1.75 each; 5 @ $1.50.

DAUNTLESS. 3 ft. July, Aug. Pale yellowish orange with pastel blending; large wide-overlapping petals like Patricia. $1.75 each; 5 @ $1.50.

HIAWATHA. 3½ ft. June, July. Numerous medium-small, golden orange blooms on branching, upstanding scapes. $2.50 each.

LINDA. 3 ft. July, Aug. Large flowers with crinkled petals; golden yellow with cinnamon fleck and red eye; clear yellow sepals. One of the most popular bicolors. $2.00 each; 5 @ $1.75.

MIDAS. 3½-4 ft. July. Clear glowing orange; medium size. Fine for backgrounds. $1.50 each.

MIKADO. 3 ft. June, July. Rich striking orange flower with a mahogany-red spot in each petal. Was placed first 3 times in the annual Hemerocallis popularity poll. $1.00 each; 5 @ 75 cts.

MONARCH. 3 ft. July. Full; crisp; large; star-like; light cadmium-yellow with a delicate halo. $3.00 each.

HEMEROCALLIS MULTIFLORA. Aug.-Oct. The clear orange flowers are the smallest of the Daylily species. Should be in your border for fall bloom. $2.00 each; 5 @ $1.75.

PATRICIA. 2½ ft. July, Aug. Ranked second highest in ballot from 321 varieties. Pastel yellow; pronounced fragrance. $2.00 each; 5 @ $1.75.

RAJAH. 3½ ft. July, late Aug. Large, gay-colored English red blooms with garnet-brown eye-zones and pale orange throats. $1.75 each; 5 @ $1.50.

SACHEM. 3½ ft. July. Flower full, dark red, near carmine; yellowish orange throat in sharp contrast. An outstanding red Daylily. $3.00 each.

SERENADE. 4 ft. June, July. Pastel shade of yellow and pink; petals twisted and crinkled. $1.75 each; 5 @ $1.50.

SOUDAN. 3 ft. July, Aug. Large, broad, full, "crepey" bright yellow flowers. $1.00 each; 5 @ 80 cts.

THERON. 2½ ft. July. Dr. Stout's best mahogany-red. Large flowers, full and spreading; throat dark red outside and orange inside. $3.00 each.

TRIUMPH. 3½ ft. July. Unusual form; petals broad and recurved; sepals semi-erect; brilliant orange with slight halo. $3.00 each.

VESTA. 2½ ft. July, Aug. Semi-dwarf. Deep orange with glistening gold sheen. $1.50 each.

WAU-BUN. 3 ft. June, July. Large; light yellow sprinkled with traces of red; petals slightly twisted, a pleasing characteristic. $1.50 each.

YELDRIN. 3½ ft. July, Aug. Small but full yellowish orange flowers; bud and back of sepals brownish red. $3.00 each.

ZOUAVE. 3½ ft. June. Red bicolor. Petals rich red with darker mid-zone; sepals lighter. A rich combination for June gardens. $3.00 each.

One each of these thirty varieties of Dr. Stout's Hybrid Daylilies for $49.95 (valued @ $62.75)

"My Daylily Rajah stands up without fading, under this summer's hot sun—and it has been hot. I've had the second blooming period on several and now the third crop of buds is coming. Not a day since March 18 have I been without blossoms."—MRS. B. V. COLLANY, 7030-7060 Clearview Ave., St. Petersburg, Fla.

"Please send me one each of August Pioneer and Boutonniere. I saw them in Mr. Richard Stubbs' garden last week and they are lovely. He got his from you this spring."—MRS. CHARLES S. HOWARD, 4200 Greenwood Drive, Des Moines, Iowa.

DAYLILIES

(Hemerocallis)

Plant Daylilies for the duration—the duration of your lifetime. Each year enjoy peaceful beauty in your garden from spring to fall.

The All-American Flower

Daylilies are typical of America today. They flourish from Maine to California—the prized plants in a rural garden of Iowa and the gems of a penthouse garden in New York.

Like true Americans, the Daylilies expect no odds. Extremes of soil or climate—enemies of most flowers—do not rout them. They will grow in lime or acid, wet or dry, sandy or clay soils; in sun or shade; hot or cold climates. The plants are free from diseases and pests—“tough babies” for your wartime garden, despite their dainty beauty.

Discover for yourself the fine All-American qualities of Daylilies. They are unsurpassed in permanence, hardiness and ease of culture.

Backbone of the Garden

Most gardens have only a “sprinkle” of hardy flowers in summer because this half of the garden season suffers from heat and drought. Turn to Daylilies for flowers in the “difficult half.” Daylilies are made for the whole summer, from May to September; all kinds of summer, from 70° to 100°; all moods of summer, in a marvelous new range of colors from soft yellow to rich maroon.

Why be content with a summer doldrum? You needn't be. You can relax on a shaded porch, reach for a cooling drink, and still enjoy the beauty of Daylilies. Less effort is required for them than for any other plants in the garden. Anyone who grows Daylilies will say they are the easiest of all perennials to grow.

“The newer summer-flowering Daylilies are already transforming our middle western gardens; when they are more widely known and grown, they will have an even greater effect” says Dr. E. ANDERSON, Geneticist to the Missouri Botanical Garden, St. Louis, Mo.

When and How to Plant

Daylilies can be shipped safely in fall or spring. Fall shipping—August to December; spring shipping—April to May.

Plant 2 to 3 feet apart, anywhere except in heaviest shade. Note “bleach” at throat of plant and place to depth where foliage turns green—not too deeply.

When most flowers have succumbed to summer heat, Daylilies carry on, year after year, with little attention but increasing effect.

Daylilies will add beauty to a foundation planting, a shrubby border, flower border or in masses by themselves.

Daylilies give colorful life to the smallest garden from spring to fall.

WHAT IS A STOUT HYBRID?

Since 1912, Dr. A. B. Stout, of New York, N. Y., has devoted much of his time to breeding new forms and colors of Daylilies. During this period more than 70,000 seedlings were grown. Since 1931, 48 of these hybrids have been thought good enough and different enough to be introduced for your garden.

For each modern Stout Hybrid Daylily that is offered for your garden of 1943, more than a thousand seedlings were discarded. As a result, each Stout Hybrid offered to you in this list is one out of a thousand; has passed with flying colors the severe tests of hardiness, endurance, beauty and individuality imposed by the originator.

New forms and colors are now available in these Stout Hybrids that were never before known to Daylily lovers—far different from the coarse, reddish orange Daylily that everyone knows. The old-fashioned colors of your grandmother's Daylilies have been developed into pastel tones, bicolors (two tones in one flower), reds, pinks, and even peach tones.

Stout Hybrids have been grown and introduced only by Farr Nursery Company in a constant effort to give you Better Plants by Farr.

Read What Others Say

FROM A GOOD NEIGHBOR—“All plants came in the most perfect condition and I congratulate you on the way you have protected the plants in the package so that they arrived safely with a clean and healthy aspect. All bulbs have already grown more than 20 cms. high and I feel confident the flowers will come in time.”—G. MARQUESA LISBOA, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

FROM U. S. A.—“Having paid a visit to my garden to see Hemerocallis Rosalind, she wishes me to tell you she is very happy in her California home. She arrived in good condition August 14. Now there are six lusty, dark green leaves, and how she is growing!”—BERTHA E. TOWER, Red Bluff, Calif.

“I still think that in every respect Mikado is the leader among the Daylilies. It will make a Daylily fan of anyone who has the least possibility.”—MRS. BRIGHT TARLOW, Ocala, Fla.

“The Hemerocallis came through nicely. I thank you for square dealings now and for the past 20 years. Thank you.”—MRS. S. S. FULLER, Riverside, Ill.

OUR Guarantee IS YOUR PROTECTION

WE OFFER YOU only one grade of plants—the finest. WE UNCONDITIONALLY GUARANTEE every plant to be of fine quality, true to name, free from disease, and to reach you in best condition.

We will replace, F.O.B. Weiser Park, any plant that does not sprout in spring, providing the original order was paid within the usual 30-day terms, and providing report of failure is filed by May 15.
